

Dear Ladies and Gentlemen,

The European Society of Pathology (ESP) is seeking new Editor-in-Chief for its influential journal, Virchows Archiv (VA). Dear Ladies and Gentlemen,

The European Society of Pathology (ESP) is seeking new Editor-in-Chief for its influential journal, Virchows Archiv (VA).

The editorship will be assumed on January 1, 2017 and is normally held for a renewable term of three years.

The ESP Council Board represented by the ESP President, Prof. Pierre Bedossa, is appointing a Search and Selection Committee, which will generate a shortlist of candidates for consideration by the Council Board of the ESP.

Established in 1847, Virchows Archiv is currently published 12 times a year by Springer, with copyright retained by the European Society of Pathology.

The Editor in Chief is responsible for Editorial policy, in close collaboration with the Executive Committee of the ESP and the Editorial Committee (of 7 associate editors), monitor the peer review process, liaise with the Publisher and assume final responsibility for the Journal's content. The successful candidate will be appointed by the ESP under a contract with the publisher (Springer). Candidates should be certified pathologist, active member of the ESP, fluent in English (spoken and in writing) and dispose of ample editorial experience.

For more information concerning Virchows Archiv and its editorship, see the Virchows Archiv information sheet at www.springer.com.

Applications should be submitted by June 1, 2016, will contain a full CV (listing notably editorial experience) and a letter of interest.

Applications should be sent to Dr. Raed Al Dieri, ESP scientific director at (r.aldieri@esp-pathology.org).

Potential candidates may also wish to consult the current Editor-in-Chief, Prof. Fred Bosman (Fred.Bosman@chuv.ch).

The editorship will be assumed on January 1, 2017 and is normally held for a renewable term of three years.

The ESP Council Board represented by the ESP President, Prof. Pierre Bedossa, is appointing a Search and Selection Committee, which will generate a shortlist of candidates for consideration by the Council Board of the ESP.

Established in 1847, Virchows Archiv is currently published 12 times a year by Springer, with copyright retained by the European Society of Pathology.

The Editor in Chief is responsible for Editorial policy, in close collaboration with the Executive Committee of the ESP and the Editorial Committee (of 7 associate editors), monitor the peer review process, liaise with the Publisher and assume final responsibility for the Journal's content. The successful candidate will be appointed by the ESP under a contract with the publisher (Springer). Candidates should be certified pathologist, active member of the ESP, fluent in English (spoken and in writing) and dispose of ample editorial experience.

For more information concerning Virchows Archiv and its editorship, see the Virchows Archiv information sheet at www.springer.com.

Applications should be submitted by June 1, 2016, will contain a full CV (listing notably editorial experience) and a letter of interest.

Applications should be sent to Dr. Raed Al Dieri, ESP scientific director at (r.aldieri@esp-pathology.org).
Potential candidates may also wish to consult the current Editor-in-Chief, Prof. Fred Bosman (Fred.Bosman@chuv.ch).