

Symposium on Melanocytic Lesions

Friday June 2nd 2023, 14.00-17.00

Store Auditorium, Vestermarksvej 16 4000 Roskilde and online via Teams

Participation is free. Registration for both physical and online attendance required before May 12th to mbje@regionsjaelland.dk

13:30 Sandwich, soft drinks and networking

14:00 Welcome

by Lise Mette Rahbek Gjerdrum¹, Ass. research professor, consultant pathologist, PhD

14:10 Melanocytic neoplasms: morphological and molecular correlations

by professor Eduardo Calonje², chief dermatopathologist

15:00 Dermloop - a collaboration between clinicians and pathologists

by Gustav Gede Nervil³, PhD student and Birgitte Bols⁴, consultant pathologist

15:30 Coffee break and networking

15:45 The correlation between dermoscopy and histopathology

by Niels Kvorning³, PhD

16:00 Histopathological diagnostic accuracy – clinical information, dermoscopy and histopathological diagnoses

by Louisa Bønløkke Nervil³, MD

16:15 Proteome studies in nevi and melanoma

by Soraya Naimy¹, PhD

16:30 Proteomics in melanoma research

by Beatrice Dyring-Andersen⁵, Ass. research professor, PhD

16:45 Can circulating tumor DNA (ctDNA) predict and reveal recurrence in melanoma?

by Magnus Obinah³, PhD student

17:00 Closure

by Beatrice Dyring-Andersen⁵, Ass. research professor, PhD

¹ Department of Pathology, Zealand University Hospital

² St. John's Institute for Dermatology, St. Thomas Hospital, London

³ Department of Plastic Surgery, Herlev-Gentofte hospital

⁴ Department of Pathology, Herlev-Gentofte hospital

⁵ Department of Dermatology and Allergy, Herlev-Gentofte Hospital and Novo Nordisk Center for Protein Research

